CALCULATIONS

15. 8/28/2017 What is considered full time?

Sections 1.1.3, 1.1.4, and 1.1.5 of the North Carolina Public Schools Benefits and Employment Policy Manual address this www.ncpublicschools.org/docs/district-humanresources/key-information/information/policymanual.pdf

For example: if a cafeteria worker works 35 hours a week for 10 months, the raise that they must receive is

$$(10/12) * (35/40) * $1,000 = $729.17$$

A 10-month employee who works 40 hours a week for 10 months, the raise that they would receive is

$$(10/12) * (40/40) * $1,000 = $833.33$$

16. 8/14/2017 What if the employee is a bus driver and a cafeteria worker?

The proration of the $1,000 raise for the cafeteria worker will be calculated as is shown in question above. The local boards will determine the increase in the bus driver average rate of pay.

17. 8/14/2017 What if the hours for the employee who is both a bus driver and a cafeteria worker add up to more than 40 hours; does this employee get the $1,000 raise?

The bus driver hours cannot be used in calculations for the $1,000 raise. The cafeteria worker raise would be determined by the hours worked as a cafeteria worker. The bus driver increase will be determined by the local boards.

In addition, if they are subject to wage and hour, they must be paid at least the weighted average of the two salaries for the time and one-half overtime.

18. Can employees receive more than $1,000 annually?

Eligible employees can be placed anywhere within their salary ranges provided they receive at least the State funded $1,000 or pro rata $1,000 raise.

19. How should the $1,000 be paid?

The $1,000 or pro rata $1,000 raise should be added to the base salary of your eligible employees and paid monthly.

20. Who pays for the increase in overtime amounts?

The State has provided funding for a minimum of $1,000 annual increase based on State funded full-time employee. Overtime pay must be paid from the source of pay of the employee.
